

Through a small program developed by me in python, we can interact with the API of Invertir Online, a widely used Argentinean broker. Through it we can log-in to the broker's platform and access to an interactive menu with sub-menus:

[rainbringer@archPC Portfolio-IOL]$ conda activate analisis
(analisis) [rainbringer@archPC Portfolio-IOL]$ python main.py

There we will be able to access the value of the current quotation of the “dolar mep”, a way of buying dollars in Argentina that consists of buying a security valued in pesos and selling it in the market but quoted in dollars. The most common transaction is to trade the government bond “AL30” and sell it as “AL30D”. The result looks like this:

We can also break down our portfolio by holdings, grouping holdings by asset type or currency ticker, or simply access a brief summary of our holdings:

We will be able to generate different types of charts, such as pie charts according to the type of asset in our portfolio, or bar charts with the holdings of each ticker, grouped by color according to the type of asset:
